

The citizens of this country do not need any further concentration of media ownership. Ownership of media outlets is already held by too few entities. There appears to be virtually no public support for this legislation, so why does the FCC continue to try to ram this through? The FCC should be protecting my interests, not those of Big Business.